

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A crown for watches, especially wristwatches or pocket watches, the crown body which is provided on a winding stem is made up of two parts and includes of a first part which forms the grip surface of the crown and a second part. The crown body furthermore has a crown body thread and can be screwed to a penetration which is provided on the watch case for the winding stem.